Benjamin Ollomo

benji.ollomo@gmail.com • 438.275.0155

linkedin.com/in/benjaminollomo | github.com/bbenjii | benollomo.com

March 24, 2024

Subject: Software Developer Co-Op

Dear Hiring Manager,

My name is Benjamin Ollomo, and I am writing to express my keen interest in the Software Developer Co-Op role at WSP . Currently a third-year computer engineering student at Concordia University, I am eager to apply my skills and passion for software development to contribute to your innovative team. In my pursuit of a bachelor's degree in computer engineering and journey to become a software engineer, I have acquired a solid foundation in various programming languages and their frameworks, including Python, Java, Javascript among others. I am looking forward to the opportunity to gain practical experience and apply my knowledge in a real-world environment. This position aligns perfectly with my enthusiasm for software development.

My coursework has not only honed my technical and programing skills but also strengthened my problem-solving abilities and creativity. My coursework in data structure and algorithms has enabled me to analyze tasks critically and provide optimal algorithmic solutions involving data manipulation. Additionally, I have taken a Software Process course, gaining a strong grasp of software engineering principles and practical experience in various software development processes, including project management and team dynamics. Beyond academics, I am regularly expanding my skills in software development, undertaking self-directed learning and personal projects. A prime example of this is my recent involvement in developing a Carpooling Platform, a project that notably honed my backend development and database management skills using JavaScript, MongoDB, and Auth0 for user authentication. Currently, I am focused on engaging with projects that offer tangible real-world benefits, as these initiatives hone my adaptability and self-reliance in adopting new technologies and strategies.

I am confident that my dedication to continuous learning and my capability to quickly adapt to new technological environments will be beneficial in your company's dynamic setting. I am keen to leverage my academic background, practical experiences, and personal drive to contribute meaningfully to your team and help achieve its goals. Thank you for taking the time to review my application.

Sincerely,

Benjamin Ollomo